Established in 1931, the Institute of Government provides training, advisory, and research services to public officials and others interested in the operation of state and local government in North Carolina. A part of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the Institute also administers the university’s Master of Public Administration Program.

Each year approximately 14,000 city, county, and state officials attend one or more of the 230 classes, seminars, and conferences offered by the Institute. Faculty members annually publish up to fifty books, bulletins, and other reference works related to state and local government. Each day that the General Assembly is in session, the Institute’s Daily Bulletin, available in print and electronically, reports on the day’s activities for members of the legislature and others who need to follow the course of legislation. An extensive Web site (http://ncinfo.iog.unc.edu/) provides access to publications and faculty research, course listings, program and service information, and links to other useful sites related to government.

Support for the Institute’s operations comes from various sources, including state appropriations, local government membership dues, private contributions, publication sales, and service contracts. For more information about the Institute, visit the Web site or call (919) 966-5381.

Michael R. Smith, Director
Thomas H. Thornburg, Associate Director for Programs
Patricia A. Langelier, Associate Director for Planning and Operations
Ann C. Simpson, Associate Director for Development

Faculty
Gregory S. Allison  James C. Drennan  Laurie L. Mesibov
Stephen Allred  Richard D. Ducker  Jill D. Moore
David N. Ammons  Robert L. Farb  David W. Owens
A. Fleming Bell, II  Joseph S. Ferrell  William C. Rivenbark
Maureen M. Berner  Susan Leigh Flinspach  John Rubin
Frayda S. Bluestein  L. Lynnette Fuller  John L. Saxon
Mark F. Botts  Milton S. Heath, Jr.  Jessica Smith
Phillip Boyle  Cheryl Daniels Howell  John B. Stephens
Joan G. Brannon  Joseph E. Hunt  A. John Vogt
Anita R. Brown-Graham  Kurt J. Jenne  Richard Whisnant
William A. Campbell  Robert P. Joyce  Gordon P. Whitaker
Margaret S. Carlson  David M. Lawrence  Michael L. Williamson
Stevens H. Clarke  Charles D. Liner  (on leave)
Anne S. Davidson  Ben F. Loeb, Jr.
Anne M. Dellinger  Janet Mason

Institute of Government
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill 27599-3330
© 1985, 2000 by the Institute of Government

This publication is printed on permanent, acid-free paper in compliance with the North Carolina General Statutes.
Printed in the United States of America
04 03 02 01 00  5 4 3 2 1
ISBN 1-56011-374-X
Printed on recycled paper
Contents

Preface / v

What Is Law? / 1

Where Does Law Come From? / 5
  Constitutions / 5
    United States Constitution / 5
    North Carolina Constitution / 6
  Statutes / 7
    United States Congress / 7
    North Carolina General Assembly / 7
    City Councils and Boards of County Commissioners / 8

Administrative Law / 9

Common Law / 10

Court Decisions / 11
  State Courts / 12
  Federal Courts / 14

The Difficulty of Knowing “the Law” / 15

Trial of a Case in North Carolina / 16
  Pretrial Procedure / 17
  Trial Procedure / 18
  Testifying in Court / 21
    Kinds of Witnesses / 21
    Privileged Relationships / 22

Epilogue / 23
Preface

The work of the Institute of Government often requires teaching law to people who are not lawyers. All public officials must understand the particular laws with which they work. The people of North Carolina must understand and follow a wide variety of laws. But first, officials and the public may need basic information about the law—what it is, where it comes from, its many forms, and its applications and effects in operation. This small book was written to meet those needs.

This is a revision of the fine first edition published by the Institute of Government in 1985. It was written by Michael Crowell, a former Institute faculty member, and Margaret Taylor, a former Institute managing editor. The heart of the book remains unchanged; this edition includes several updates and an expanded discussion of some subjects. The Institute is indebted to Crowell and Taylor for creating this excellent resource.

I thank Michael Crowell and Institute faculty members Fleming Bell and Jim Drennan for reading this new edition in draft form. I also thank the Institute Publications Division for making this book possible.

Tom Thornburg

February 2000